POOLE

Poole is a coastal town and seaport located in Dorset, south coast of England. Poole is famous for its natural harbour, Poole Harbour, which is one of the largest natural harbours in the world. With its sandy beaches, scenic coastline, and historic sites, Poole is a popular tourist destination. The town attracts visitors with various activities such as water sports, boat trips, and the opportunity to explore nearby Brownsea Island. Poole is an ideal destination for international students as they will have the opportunity to experience a range of exciting activities locally in their spare time and have easy access to London which is only two hours away by train.

BOURNEMOUTH

Bournemouth is a highly popular and dynamic town located on the beautiful south coast of England. With over 11km of sandy beaches, lots of beautiful parks and gardens and a cosmopolitan atmosphere, Bournemouth is the perfect place to experience laid-back seaside life in the UK. Nearby Poole is Europe's largest natural harbour and is a hub for watersports such as kite-surfing, wind-surfing, sailing and jet-skiing. International high school students who choose to live in Bournemouth will have a wealth of exciting things to do locally in their spare time, and with London less than 2 hours away on the train they also have easy access to the capital to enjoy great days out.

STEM CENTRE

The Bournemouth and Poole College STEM Centre is a focal point to enhance and enrich the student experience of STEM subjects and to help them become aware of the wealth of opportunities in STEM related careers. The centre has been developed in partnership with NEF (New Engineering Foundation) and industry representatives to provide high quality education and training and to facilitate events and activities. Students will have the opportunity to study emerging technology fields such as Biological Sciences with access to cutting edge laboratories. The college's innovative approach to Maths education prepares students for the world of work. Employers provide work placement opportunities and ensure the college's courses are aligned to current workplace practices, both of which provide students with the competitive edge.
