PROGRESSIVE CO-EDUCATIONAL SCHOOL IN A CHARMING SEASIDE LOCATION, JUST OUTSIDE DUBLIN!

North Wicklow Educate Together Secondary School is dedicated to creating a co-educational, learner-centered, caring, and positive environment where equality and democracy are celebrated and nurtured.

As an Educate Together school, NWETSS is multi-denominational and, unlike most Irish schools, it is not owned by a religious community. Students do not wear a uniform and students and teachers are on first-name terms. School management and staff have a strong commitment to providing an inclusive space that promotes student achievement and encourages greater understanding between different cultures. A unique curriculum is on offer, incorporating traditional academic subjects and cutting-edge learning opportunities in areas such as Coding and Digital Media to prepare students for the modern world of work.

An important part of life at the school is the tutoring system, known as the Clan system, which is similar to a House system. Each Clan is made up of 20 students from different year groups and a Clan Tutor. This gives students the opportunity to build positive supportive relationships with other students and to have constant guidance from their Clan Tutor. NWETSS is committed to enabling students to become creative, empathetic, life-long learners who are prepared to meet the challenges of the 21st century in a sustainable and ethical way.
